_concept

Fresh into the hybrid way of working, our clients, like many of us, were unsure as to how their organisation would react to these changing times.

Together, we were able to define the things that they knew their people needed. Greenery, flexibility and subtle space dividers.

Challenge accepted, and enter the avlia!

The avlia is able to provide;

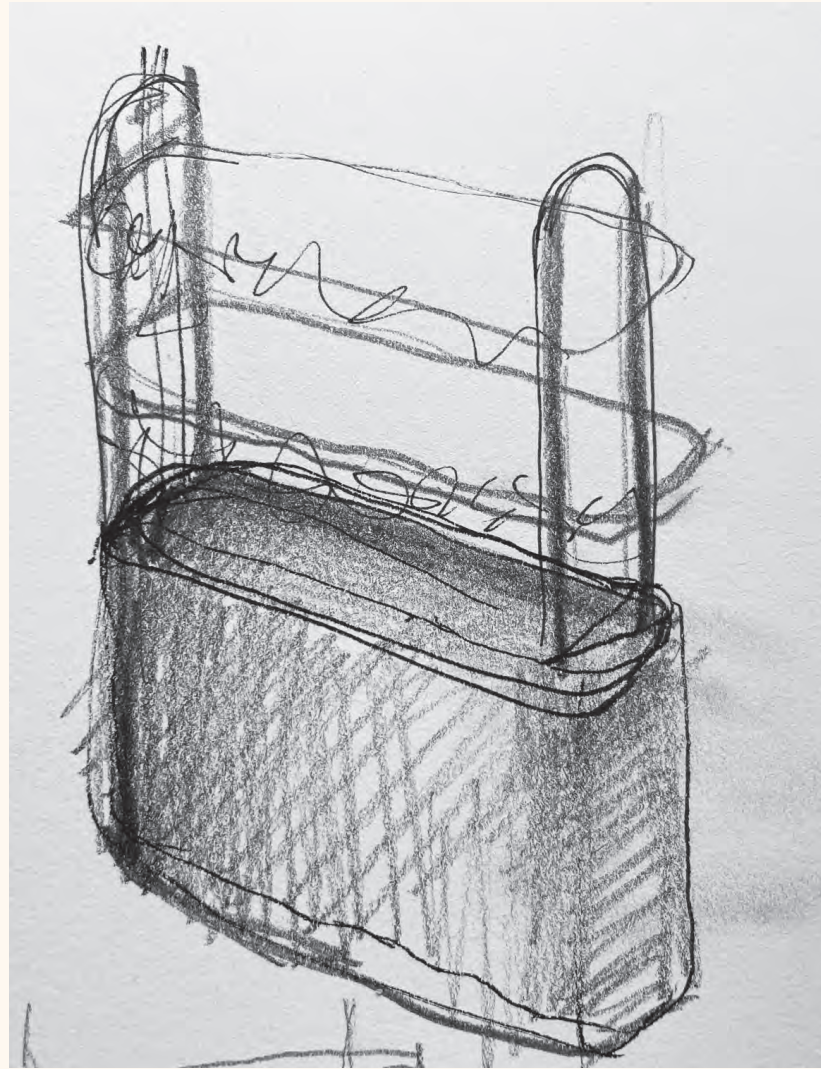

- Biophilia-real greenery in the overhead planters(eventually growing down and along the tubular rods, creating unique and organic space dividers.
- No intervention to the surrounding built environment, ie freestanding to avoid structurally fixing to ceilings and floors
- Modularity- ease in construction, delivery and assembly, making the install easy for the end user construction team

We hope you enjoy the process and story as much as we loved collaborating with all the fabricators and joiners to bring this to life.

We hope you enjoy this unit as much as we truly loved creating it. The adaptations are endless, and we can't wait to continue to evolve this unit in both material palettes, and sustainable material reuse.
